Livio D'Arpino Cup Champions

Livio D'Arpino was the former Vice President of the Eastern New York State Soccer Association. He also served on several US Adult Soccer committees on behalf of Region I. Born in Italy in 1946, Livio immigrated to America in 1955. Along with his brother Dario and others, Livio founded Frosinone SC in 1971, which developed into a power house in the Metropolitan New York area. That same year Livio joined the Italian American Soccer League as a Trustee and then served as its Secretary from 1975 to 1979. He became President of the league in 1980. Livio began his work with the Eastern New York State Soccer Association in 1979 as Recording Secretary. Five years later, he was elected General Secretary.

Livio then became involved with the Eastern New York Youth Soccer Association, eventually serving as Vice President on behalf of both youth and adult associations. His committee appointments include the Appeals Boards of State Associations, the Budget Committee of US Adult Soccer and ENYSYA Olympic Development Program as its Chair. Livio took part in many facets of the game from 1971 until his unexpected death in 2003. He had the pleasure to see former Frosinone SC players Chris Armas and Mike Petke rise to the ranks of Major League Soccer.

Jack Flamhaft Cup Champions

Born: February 28, 1905 - New York, NY Died: June 1977 - Brooklyn, NY Since Fordham University, which he attended, did not then have soccer on its sports curriculum; He joined New York Hakoah where he eventually became the guiding light for more than 30 years. In 1928 while still attending law school he became a delegate to the old New York State Football Association in which organization he rapidly rose and held high office for a good many years. First as Hakoah delegate to the American League he later served five years as president of the professional organization. Having been a delegate to the USSFA conventions continuously since 1935, it was inevitable that his capabilities, knowledge, experience and leadership be drafted into the service of the National organization. His official life in the Federation included service as president for a two-year term beginning in 1959. In his time as president and in many other official capacities, he was responsible for numerous laws and the Constitution and By-Laws of the USSFA. However, his greatest victories were won in court where he represented the USSFA in litigation in the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, in which the prerogatives, power and authority of the USSFA were challenged.

USSF Warner Fricker Builders Award

Honored in 2002

Involved in the sport as a player and administrator for nearly 40 years, Werner Fricker was one of the first true soccer pioneers in the United States and brought about the sport's modern revolution in this country by leading the successful bid to host the 1994 FIFA World Cup.

Born in Karlsdorf, Yugoslavia, of German and Hungarian heritage, Fricker immigrated to the United States in 1952. As a player, Fricker captained the Philadelphia German-Hungarians from 1958 to 1969, winning the 1965 U.S. Amateur Cup. He was also a defensive midfielder for the U.S. team that attempted to qualify for the 1964 Olympics.

After his playing career, Fricker stayed involved in the game by working for the U.S. Soccer Federation and was instrumental in building the framework for the growth of soccer in the United States. During his time at the Federation, which included six years as President, Werner created the Women's National Team program, and the Under-20 and Under-17 Men's National Team programs.

In addition to the creation of various programs within U.S. Soccer, Fricker turned the Federation into a viable business. In Fricker's last year with the Federation in 1990, the U.S. made its first World Cup appearance in 40 years. In recognition of all his contributions to the game, Fricker was inducted into the National Soccer Hall of Fame in 1992.

About the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open

Dating back to 1914, the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup is the oldest cup competition in United States soccer and is among the oldest in the world. Open to all affiliated amateur and professional teams in the United States, the annual U.S. Open Cup is a 90-year-old single-elimination tournament. In a nutshell, the U.S. Open Cup is very similar to domestic cup competitions popular throughout Europe, South America and the rest of the world. Cup competitions, which usually run concurrent with a country's league season, are open in the early stages to any club that can qualify, giving local amateur teams a chance to compete against the best teams a country has to offer. In leagues like the English Premier League, the Serie A in Italy and the Bundesliga in Germany, cup competitions are prestigious tournaments waged between a country's strongest teams like Manchester United, AC Milan and Bayern Munich, and smaller teams like Watford F.C. in England, a small-time club that hit it big in 1984 by making it all the way to the F.A. Cup Final. Just two years ago, unfashionable Chesterfield of the Second Division (the third flight in England) advanced to the semi-finals of the 1997 F.A. Cup in England before finally losing. The winner of each country's domestic cup competition, in addition to taking home the prize money, is automatically placed into a tournament to compete against neighboring countries cup winners. In Europe this tournament is known as the Cup Winners' Cup competition, and in North and Central America it is the CONCACAF Cup Winners' Cup, which was first competed in 1992. HISTORY OF THE U.S. OPEN CUP As the oldest, annual team tournament in US sports history, the U.S. Open Cup dates back to 1914 when the Brooklyn Field Club won the first national title by defeating the Brooklyn Celtics in Pawtucket, R.I. First instituted as the National Challenge Cup under the aegis of the United States Football Association, it was conceived as a competition open to all players (amateur and professional) and based upon England's Football Association Cup format. During the Open Cup's early years, teams sponsored by industry in the East's urban centers dominated the competition. Bethlehem Steel (Pa.) won four Open Cup titles between 1915 and 1919, while Fall River F.C. (Mass.) won five national crowns between 1917 and 1931, tying Bethlehem Steel (a winner also in 1926) and Maccabees S.C. of Los Angeles (1973, 1975, 1977, 1978 and 1981) as the tournament's only five-time winners. Although there have been numerous back-to-back winners (eight overall by seven different teams), only Greek American AA of New York, N.Y. have won three consecutive crowns (1967-1969). While teams sponsored by industries in the East's urban centers dominated the Men's Open and Amateur Cups until the 1950s, the teams from the West and Midwest have flexed their muscles in the later years. In fact, California alone has garnered the lion's share of success, winning 10 titles since 1973. Missouri, Illinois and Florida have also appeared regularly on the winner's list. Although it is now a complete "knock-out" tournament, with a few exceptions the US Open Cup final was a two-leg, home-and-away series between 1928 and 1968. Despite the prominence of the North American Soccer League from 1967 to 1984, NASL teams rarely showed the inclination to enter the US Open Cup competition. In fact, until the emergence of Major League Soccer, full professional teams were almost non-existent in the competition. That has changed in the last four years, though, with MLS taking part since 1996, thus helping to make the tournament a true "national" championship.
