

LISFL once up on a time

The LISFL, as it was in the beginning.... and continues.

The Long Island Soccer Football League was formed in 1948 when a group of men decided the time was ripe for the world's favorite sport to find a home on Long Island.

The man with the vision was its founder Karl A. Weber. But as with any other venture no one man can accomplish anything worthwhile; the poet says, "No man is an island". Karl Webber as Founder and President needed people of like mind to work with him to make his dream a reality.

He got help in the form of George Loeshner - Vice President, Walter Fritsch - Secretary and Arnold V. Boyance - Treasurer; Henry A. Shapiro was used as the legal counsel for the league.

The roots of the league can be traced back to the end of World War II in 1945 as returning GI's coming back home from Europe and players graduating from college and high school, needing some form of group recreation, found it in soccer - "The Beautiful Game". People of varying background were moving east from New York City and wanting to play their favorite sport, the time was right for the development of soccer on Long Island.

In 1947 exhibition games were played weekly by two pioneer clubs, Franklin Square Neon's and Great Neck S.C.; they played against and won games against such N.Y. powerhouses as German-Hungarians, New World Club, Congers Rangers, NY Ukrainians and All Star teams. Eventually clubs like Grumman S.C., and Hempstead Outdoor S.C. started playing weekly exhibition games.

To advertise the existence of our new league, the LISFL, clinics were held in schools and meeting halls, under direction of USSF Hall of Famer Peter Renzulli, these proved a huge success.

Eventually more clubs joined the league, Sea Cliff S.C. formerly Nassau F.C. Flushing Holland S.C. Rockville Centre S.C., Hempstead S.C., Glen Cove S.C., Huntington Kickers and Patchogue S.C. who had a team in the German-American League now known as the Cosmopolitan Soccer League from 1929 to 1937, they transferred their membership to LISFL in 1954.

LISFL the first organized soccer league on Long Island heralded the rebirth of soccer on Long Island; and by 1959 the league had grown to two ten-team divisions and eventually added Reserve, Junior, O-30 teams and a Ladies division.

During the Mid Sixties the officers of the LISFL were instrumental in laying the groundwork for the present Long Island Junior Soccer League. After numerous false starts, the seed took root and the growth of the LIJSL has been constant; and they became an independent entity that has been very successful. The LIJSL has been instrumental in developing many top class players, including Chris Armas who played in the MLS and has represented the USA on many occasions.

The adult soccer league continued to grow at a more modest rate during the seventies to the present time. It now supports six competitive divisions of open soccer and two men's Over-30 divisions and U-23 0-40.

The teams from our league have become a respected force; the numerous State Cups that has been won by teams from our league over the years can attest this fact. Huntington S.C. in 1965 won the Dr. Manning Cup. To prove it was not a fluke, it was followed, by Forest Park 1980, 2003, Cow Harbor 1987, Hicksville Americans 1988, Glen Cove 1990, 1993, Farmingville in 1994, Real Caribe in 1995, Integral Kings 1998, Oceanside 1999, NYI Rovers 2000, 2001, 2004, 2005 Mineola Portuguese in 1981, 2011 doing the same, The league clubs continued to leave their mark on the soccer scene, taking many major trophies.
